Winter Rips Western U.S. With Snowfall

Near-Blizzard
Conditions Hit
Most Of Montana

By The Associated Press
Winter extended its postseason run through the Rockies and northern plains today, scattering more snow from Nevada to North Dakota and churning up near-blizzard conditions in Montana.

Heavy-snow warnings were in effect for eastern Montana, with 5 to 10 inches additional accumulation expected. Lewistown, in central Montana, measured 15 inches.

Northerly winds up to 30 miles an hour swept the snow into drifts in eastern Montana. The Great Falls weather bureau office said the near-blizzard storm
would last all day.

The storm dumped nearly 2
feet of snow into sections of Utah east of Salt Lake City
Monday and Tuesday before swinging into Montana.

An inch or more fell before daybreak in Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming and western North Dakota.

Temperatures dipped to freezing or below overnight from Montana to northern Arizona,
where Flagstaff chilled down to 14 degrees.

Wind gusts of 58 to 64 miles an hour lashed Devils Lake, N.D., for four consecutive hours during the night. Similarly strong winds scooped up clouds of dust
in the southern Rockies and in west Texas.

In contrast to wintry cold in the West, unseasonable warmth prevailed in much of the nation's eastern half. Overnight temperatures in the 60s and 70s
were common.

The mercury sizzled into the upper 80s and low 90s Tuesday
in sections of Iowa and Missouri
as well as the South.

A locally heavy storm hit the Inquest Notes Are Released By Court

BOSTON (AP) — The courtroom record unfolds at last today on the inquiry into events of the summer night Mary Jo Kopachne died in Sen. Edward M.
Kennedy's automobile.

Suffolk County Superior Court
was to release the transcript and the findings of a secret inquest held in January into the drowning of the 28-year-old secretary.

She was killed last July 18
when Kennedy's car plunged
from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and overturned into a pond below.

Kennedy failed to report the accident for more than 10 hours,
a delay he later termed indefensible. He pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident, received a two-month suspended
jail sentence and a year's probation.

The 764-page transcript and the 12-page report of Judge James A. Boyle, who presided behind the closed doors of Edgartown District Court, represent the last official installment in a case that shook American politics.

In the bleak aftermath of the accident, Kennedy said he was considering resigning from the Senate and asked the people of Massachusetts to register their opinions. He received a predictable vote of confidence, in an outpouring of letters and telegrams.

But in announcing that he would stay in the Senate and seek a new term in the Nov. 3
election, the last of the Kennedy brothers said he would not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Fraser said the $1 billion in the defense bill for MIRVs—
Multiple Independently Targetable
Re-entry Vehicles—is the start of a buildup that would give the United States nearly 10,000 nuclear warheads when it now has 4,200 to the Soviets' 1,350.

"If the United States plunges straight on building up this kind of arsenal," he said, "the Soviets instead of leveling off are going to have to go to a second round of armaments."

Rivers and Fraser testified at a House Rules Committee session at which the procurement authorization bill was cleared
for House action.

President Says Economy Sound Despite Slump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid
growing concern over the stock
market's long and sharp decline, President Nixon again has expressed optimism the nation's economy will pick up steam this summer after a painful leveling
off process.

"Frankly, if I had any money
I'd be buying stocks right now,"
Nixon told a visiting business
group Tuesday in an informal 35-minute chat on the troubled economy.

The President, said a spokesman for the group, said he will make a major report to the nation dealing with the economy
and other matters in about two weeks.

As Nixon eluded confidence in the economy, Dr. Paul W.
McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said in Dallas the economic slowdown that began last year
should mean price increases
will begin to level off later this year.

Welfare Plan Testimony Set By Finch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch was called today to lead off the case for President Nixon's sweeping welfare reform plan
before a skeptical Senate Finance Committee.

The committee, headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., told Finch to reserve three days
for extensive questioning on the House-passed legislation. Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz will be quizzed on the job training aspects next week.

Despite unhappiness among some Finance members over the plan, administration forces
nevertheless remained confident
the committee will stamp its approval on the bill sometime this summer.

The bill, passed 243 to 155 by the House April 16, would set up a new family assistance plan in place of the 35-year-old aid to families with dependent children program.

Under the plan, a cash income of at least $1,600 a year would be guaranteed for a family of four, and higher amounts for those with some personal income. The working poor would be included in the program for the first time.

All beneficiaries except mothers with preschool age children would be required to sign up for job training and to take suitable jobs.

Ohio Bonded Debt Tops $1 Billion

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The
bonded indebtedness of the state of Ohio was $1.094 billion Tuesday and it is expected to reach $1.5 billion by the end of the
year.

The increase will come as more voter-approved bonds are sold in what state financial officers define as a bad sellers
market.

The state is currently paying off seven of eight bond issues,
including one passed in 1953.

Five were passed during the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

They total nearly $2 billion.

Bonds approved by the voters in 1963 for capital improvements were not issued because
the Sinking Fund Commission
felt the interest rate of 2.249
at the time was too high.

Since then the asking price
for state bonds soared to 6.1629
per cent interest. The state agreed to that price on a $50 million batch sold Tuesday.

The Sinking Fund-Commission
comprised of elected state officials, has been getting capital improvements money by issuing short terms notes instead of selling the bonds.

While awaiting a better bond
market, the state has paid $29
million in interest without paying one penny on principal.

Richard E. Trimble, administrative assistant to the commission, said it made its decision to withhold issuance of the 1963 bonds on "the best advice available at that time."

"The members of the commission called upon the people who buy bonds," he said, "people who know the marketplace."

Trimble defends the issuance of notes when the bond market is bad. "If you want to buy a washing machine, you don't go out and mortgage your house,"
he said. "You go to bank and get a short term loan."

That is what the state has done.

As of April 1, the state's annual payment on bonds, principal and interest was nearly $100 million a year.

Finance Director Howard Collier blames the situation on the national economy. "It's a mess,"

Collier, however, believes the next governor will find things
in better shape than Rhodes did
when he took office in 1963.

He said the state's operating budget will be balanced. "Ohio,"
he said, "is in sound fiscal condition."

If the bond market keeps going up, Collier said, the state will reach a place where it has

Indicate U.S. Lends Combat Aid To Ally

WASHINGTON (AP) — The
Pentagon announced today the United States will send advisers, tactical air strikes and other support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. It called the move "a necessary and effective measure" to save U.S.
and other allied lives.

The Pentagon thus confirmed
an announcement by the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon that U.S. combat and other support for a major operation in the "parrot beak" area
of Cambodia jutting into South Vietnam about 35 miles from Saigon.

Asst. Secretary of Defense
Daniel Z. Henkin read a statement to newsmen saying:

"The United States Military
Assistance Command, Vietnam
(MACV) in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

"This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air,
air coordinators, medical evacuation, and some logistics assistance."

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted.
The determination was made
that the action is a necessary
and effective measure to save American and other free world
lives and strengthen the Viet-namization program."

Thus, the Pentagon—speaking for the Nixon administration—
cast the new development in terms of supporting the over-all objective of shifting the Vietnam war burden to the South Vietnamese and gradually withdrawing U.S. troops.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a

Old Admiral To Be 104 On May 10

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) —
The nation's oldest admiral has a glint in his blue eyes as he chuckles over women's fashions, criticizes the "now" generation and urges modernization
of the fleet.

"Women's fashions are like ocean waves," says Richard H.
Jackson, who is two weeks
away from his 104th birthday.
"Their hemlines go up and come down again with a kind of predictable regularity."

Of sea power, he says: "We used to think the Russians were a pretty powerful land power
but now they're using their new navy in a great show of force."

"We want a fleet that can be in the right place at the right
time and with the right weapons. We can't afford to have too many ships scattered about that can't do the job."

The American Battleship Association is arranging Jackson's May 10 birthday party, with President Nixon among those invited.

Jackson, who was 64 when he retired in 1930 as commander of the U.S. battle fleet, said of America's "now" generation:
"They think they know it all,
but a lot of the old salts around know they don't. It takes a lot of years to learn the difference between opinion and experience."

Israel Claims Soviet Pilots Flying Missions For Egypt

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel
charged today that Soviet pilots
are flying operational missions
for Egypt's air force but said so far they have stayed west of the Suez Canal combat zone.

The Israeli command also announced that Egyptian gunfire
across the Suez Canal killed
three Israeli soldiers and wounded 18 Tuesday, the highest one-day casualty toll on the waterway this year. A spokesman said artillery exchanges
took place on the northern and central sectors of the canal.

The claim that Soviet pilots
are flying in Egypt was made in a special announcement which said the development was
"viewed with deep gravity" and
"must cause concern not only to Israel but to all freedom-loving peoples."

A Soviet Foreign Ministry
spokesman in Moscow said:
"We have no information on this."

There was no immediate comment from Egypt.

The announcement indicated that the Soviet pilots were flying most of their missions over the Nile Delta, where Egypt reportedly has installed advanced Soviet SA3 ground-to-air missiles.

Israeli warplanes have been conducting an intensive campaign of raids against the missile sites but have not made any deep penetrations into the delta since April 13, when they struck positions east of the Nile near Cairo and Port Said.

Israel also accused the Russians of delivering "vast quantities of Soviet arms to the Egyptian army to prepare it for renewed aggression" and of carrying out a "vicious anti-Israeli propaganda campaign" in the

Draft Reduction Seen By Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Vietnam troop
withdrawals may lead to a reduction in draft calls this year
to as few as 150,000 men, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says.

The Pentagon chief told a group of business and civil leaders Tuesday "We will be able to further reduce the draft calls
for this calendar year" to between 150,000 and 180,000 men.

The 150,000 figure is the lowest estimate yet made and it comes, according to Laird, as "a direct result" of progress in Vietnamization—turning more of the fighting role over to the Saigon government.

many local draft boards still are
not sure how to do their job.
He said Keith McWilliams, a Des Moines, Iowa, lawyer, will become his chief legal officer
within the next month, wading
into the legacy of orders and memoranda to local boards and state directors.

Questioned on other aspects of draft policy, Tarr:

lion men, as estimated by a

Defense Secretary Thomas R.

Soviet Union in recent months.

The statement concluded: "Israel will continue to defend itself against all aggression
which aims at renewal of war in the area . . . Israel will continue in its firm stand and its quest
for true and lasting peace."

Premier Golda Meir's government was expected to use its new charge against Egypt and the Soviet Union as another argument in support of its appeals
for delivery of more warplanes
from the United States.

Israel reportedly is seeking
about 25 more supersonic F4

Phantoms and some 80 more A4
Skyhawk jets. President Nixon indicated on March 21 that he would not grant the request as long as the current balance of power in the Middle East was maintained, but he added that if the balance changed "the United States would take action to deal with that situation."

Egypt meanwhile claimed that its jets shot down an Israeli warplane Tuesday in a dogfight over the Suez Canal. Israel had claimed earlier that its pilots
shot down two Egyptian jets,
and both governments denied
losing any planes.

Boy's Hanging Ruled Accident

An 11-year-old Madison Township boy accidentally hanged
himself late Tuesday afternoon
while his playmates watched.

Donald L. Curfman of the Gregory Trailer Court on the Harrisburg-Fairfield Road was pronounced dead at the Lock-

bourne Air Force Base Hospital.
According to the death certificate cause of death was strangulation or snapped cervical cord.

At 5:55 p.m. the Harrison
Twp. Fire Department received a call for oxygen at the Gregory Trailer Court for a boy who had hanged himself.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Don Thompson
responded to the call and rushed a resuscitator to the scene.

Thompson found the boy on the ground with a man administering mouth to mouth
resuscitation.

They applied oxygen but the youngster failed to respond.

An LAFB ambulance arrived on the scene and the boy was taken to the base hospital but he had expired.

The youngster was playing with several other children in a grassy area about 100 yards
from the nearest trailer.

He had placed a makeshift ladder against a tree. Climbing into the tree he fastened a rope
to one of the limbs and placed
the other end around his neck.

Attempting to show the others
how to hang a person he made several jumps before the rope
finally caught and ended the boy's life.

He was the son of Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph Curfman. Sgt.
Curfman is stationed at the LAFB.

The body was transported today by Defenbaugh Funeral Home to Lantz Funeral Home, Rogersville, Pa. for services on Friday.

New Draft Chief Curtis Tarr Plans Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Draft Director Curtis B. Tarr is about to review—and perhaps rewrite—the 30-year accumulation of orders left behind by his predecessor, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

In an exclusive interview,
Tarr said he wants to give local boards guidelines to make their decisions more uniform—a reform long demanded by draft critics.

Tarr's remarks—as veiled by academic caution as Hershey's
were by folksy jokes—revealed
a belief that after three decades
of directives from Hershey,

—Said the administration does not want this army full of career soldiers, and anticipates volunteers will drop out after four to eight years and make room for young newcomers.

—Disclosed he is campaigning to make the membership of local draft boards younger and more "racially representative."

—Disclosed that a reduction in the number of local boards,
which now number 4,087, is being considered.

In a message to Congress last Thursday, President Nixon
sought pay raises and benefits
to encourage an all-volunteer army. But he warned it could not be achieved quickly and said the draft should be made fairer in the meantime.

As a start, Nixon barred all future occupational, agricultural and parent deferments, and sought congressional authorization to phase out student exemptions.

Said Tarr, in the interview,
"All of the other thinking that I know of concerning reform relates to administrative actions
that we can take here and throughout the system."

"We think we can improve the information in the hands of people at local boards and at state headquarters.

"We think that if we do this, it will lead to more uniform decisions throughout the nation."

At the same time, Tarr said
he is trying to improve the local boards themselves.

"The President has made it reasonably clear to us that he would like to have the local boards more representative of the population from which young people are drawn and would like to see more youth in the system at all levels," he said.

TENT CATERPILLAR — Pickaway County Agent George Hamrick today warned area homeowners that the tent caterpillar is beginning to make its appearance in the area. A heavy infestation of the destructive insect is expected in the county this year. The larvae are easily killed with Sevin, an insecticide recommended by Ohio State University. If not controlled, the larvae will strip the leaves from trees where they have built their tent homes. In the photo, Jack Welkert, 587 E. Franklin St., examines a tent that appeared overnight in a flowering crab tree in downtown Circleville.

Friendly Judiciary Panel Calls In Judge Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — A friendly senate Judiciary Committee called Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota today before what shaped up as a one-day hearing on his nomination to the Supreme Court.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Judiciary chairman, said with no opposition witnesses expected, he would call a meeting Thursday to act on the 61-year-old judge's nomination.

Blackmun, a member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals for 11 years, has the endorsement of all his fellow judges on the circuit and of the American Bar Association's federal judiciary committee.

The ABA committee reported in a letter to Eastland Tuesday that Blackmun "meets high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity," its highest recommendation.

Blackmun was chosen by President Nixon to fill the seat vacated by Abe Fortas after the Senate rejected his first two nominees, Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

New Draft . .

"I am seeking to do this by visiting state headquarters, trying to impress state directors with the kind of philosophy we hope to have."

Local board members are appointed by the President upon recommendation by state governors, who Tarr said usually rely on recommendations from the state draft directors.

"The thing I was the most pleased about," he said, "was the attitude of the state directors in recognizing this to be a problem."

He said it is not a matter of "rooting out" present board members, but of making appointments to replace the 12 to 15 per cent who leave annually and to fill new seats when boards expand.

Tarr said the General Services Administration—housekeeper for the government—did some sample studies "and concluded that we could get along with fewer boards." Tarr said in answer to a question about reducing and consolidating the large number of draft boards.

This, too, has been a reform frequently proposed—most notably by a commission, which reported to President Johnson in 1967.

"They suggested a more extensive, more definitive study be undertaken and we have authorized them to go ahead in conjunction with the Budget Bureau," Tarr said.

Questioned on prospects for achieving an all-volunteer Army through President Nixon's $3.5 billion program of pay and benefits, Tarr said the administration does not really know how well the plan will work.

But he said military life "attracts a unique type of personality" who would prefer it over civilian life "given the freedom of choice and reasonably comparable economic opportunities."

The administration does not want an all-career Army, however, he said.

"I think this point needs to be emphasized," he said, "because in the kind of armed forces we want, we need some people for long periods of time but we need other people, and perhaps even more, who are on a rotating basis."

"...The Army would be hurt, would be crippled, if all of their enlistments stayed for 20 years."

White House Reorganization Plan Upsets Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House reorganization plan has brought congressional concern that it will raise a screen between the executive and legislative branches.

The proposal to establish an Office of Management and Budget and a Domestic Council to handle at-home affairs similar to the way the National Security Council deals with foreign problems was outlined Tuesday at a House government operations subcommittee hearing.

Reps. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, and Chet Holifield, D-Calif., indicated doubt at the hearing that the new organizations would be responsive to Congress.

Behind the proposal is the frustration, expressed by several presidents, that plans, programs and policies are made with little or no guarantee that they can be carried out.

The OMB would fold the present Bureau of the Budget into a super agency that would, in the view of the planners, combine the latest techniques of management and cost effectiveness.

Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries and chief of the advisory group that drew up the proposal, told the subcommittee:

"No one adequately sees to it that organization form continues to fit the intended purpose. The result is to lock the executive branch into patterns of disorganization that persist into the future."

"Almost every president in this century has commented that resistance to organization changes is one of the chief obstacles to effective government," Ash said.

The Domestic Council would consolidate several existing White House groups into a series of study agencies and a permanent staff.

The reorganization plan did draw some support during the hearing.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., said the President should be allowed to make whatever changes he sees fit, he should be able to "speak with one voice."

Besides evaluation and monitoring of programs, Ash said at another point, the council would tie together inter-agency planning, valuable since so many programs today cross department lines.

Children Put Under Guard In Britain

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard put security guards on five more children of Britain's royal family today as it continued investigating an anonymous report of a plot to kidnap Princess Margaret's 8-year-old son.

Police sources said the guard was precautionary and there was no definite sign the children were in danger.

The 19-year-old daughter of a rich member of Parliament also was guarded after a report that she, too, was marked for kidnapping.

Young Viscount Linley, Princess Margaret's son, returned to Ashdown House boarding school south of London Tuesday under what were said to be the strictest security rules ever put around a royal child. Police manned a roadblock at the school gates and patrolled the grounds with walkie-talkies and a dog. A detective slept in a room near the boys'.

Scotland Yard spokesmen said kidnap threats also have been made against a number of other prominent persons. They said there was no evidence but that investigations were continuing.

The kidnap reports started last week when a telephone caller told a London newspaper of plans to abduct Lord Linley as hostage for the release from prison of Reginald and Ronald Kray, twin brothers serving 30 years for murder.

School Teachers Accept Pact With Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus school teachers in an early morning mass meeting at the state fairgrounds today declined to take a strike vote and, instead, voted to accept those contract items already negotiated with the board of education.

The teachers also decided to send unresolved issues to a fact finding board, and then, if necessary, to binding arbitration.

Governor Orders National Guard Into Truck Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes threatened today to use the Ohio National Guard if necessary to stop hoodlum gunplay stemming from a wildcat teamster union strike.

He alerted 3,000 guardsmen in and near Cleveland to stand by at their armories for possible use.

At the same time he called on "warring factions" in the 29-day dispute to "come to reason and iron out their differences," and he appealed to Secretary of Labor George Schultz to seek a way to reopen negotiations for a national teamster contract.

A spokesman for the governor said the continuing strike "is creating a crisis in the Cleveland economy. It is starting to shut down business and affect supplies."

Rhodes supported a Cleveland business group report that 50,000 workers, including 6,000 teamsters, are idle because of the strike.

"There are hoodlums roaming our highways and city streets armed with guns and rifles with the intent to kill, and we're going to put a stop to it," he said in a statement. "We're not going to tolerate open warfare on our highways and streets."

His alert of the guard units was given to Ohio Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso. State officials said it meant that guard units would be alerted at their armories, apparently in the northern section of the state, ready to move out if further orders are received.

At the same time Gov. Rhodes sent a telegram to Secretary of Labor George Schultz appealing for whatever assistance federal agencies can give in settling the strike.

"The public interest in Ohio demands that both sides in the current dispute come to reason and iron out their differences," Rhodes said.

"If the open warfare that has characterized this strike is not brought to an immediate end, the National Guard is ready to move in for the protection and safety of all concerned."

In the telegram to Secretary Schultz, the governor said:

"Intimidation, more than violence, is keeping truck drivers from working in northeastern Ohio. Mayors of 19 Ohio cities are meeting today to consider a course of action. My adjutant general and superintendent of the Highway Patrol will meet with them if invited."

"Moreover the National Guard has been alerted and will move promptly to support local police in maintenance of free movement of truck traffic just as soon as local authorities indicate they will make use of and cooperate with such help. I join those who urge you and the President to find a legal way to reopen negotiations for a national teamster contract. Dissatisfaction with the contract proposed is at the root of present disorders."

In another statement the governor said:

Surviving are her husband Merle; two sons, Darl and Dale, both of Route 1, Kingston, and six grandchildren.

Services will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston with the Rev. Michael Wright officiating.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Head-On Crash Injures Two

A two-car head-on collision Tuesday resulted in injuries to two persons on the Circleville Tarlton Road.

The autos, driven by Roy Clifford Stone, 40, of Laurelville and Ralph Lee Roush, 31, Route 1, collided when both entered a one-lane bridge at the same time and struck head-on.

Stone received numerous cuts and bruises and a passenger in the Roush auto, Rita Danette, 12, was referred to her family doctor for an ankle injury.

No citation has been issued on the wreck, currently under investigation by the Highway Patrol.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — During the boom years of the 1960s, when jobs were so plentiful that employers were forced to relax standards, some workers prematurely instituted the four-day week: They got "sick" on Fridays or Mondays.

One effect of such deception was to help ruin a good thing: productivity per manhour went down, prices went up, inflation caught hold, the government forced a slowdown, layoffs began.

The country is now being forced to recognize the embarrassing and dangerous fact that the productivity gains of the American worker, on average, fell to less than one per cent last year, or about one-quarter of the average postwar rate.

Absenteeism wasn't the only cause, of course. There were many other factors among them:

—Industry was forced to employ marginal workers in order to keep pace with the boom. Their skills were few, their output below average.

—Management became lax in its habits and permitted all sorts of costly inefficiencies to develop. Some managements were not innovative. They failed to develop technology and methods that would have improved productivity.

—Secure in the knowledge that their skills were tradeable, workers felt free to change jobs frequently. During their periods of adaptation, their skills were lost to both the old and the new employer.

One result of this slackening in the rate of productivity was to put both worker and management on a treadmill. Despite higher sales, corporate profits ceased to keep pace. Because of higher prices, pay increases evaporated.

No matter how many reasons are given for the declining rate of productivity, absenteeism must be high among them. A report by Morgan Guaranty Trust notes that nonagricultural absenteeism last year was 77 per cent higher than in 1961.

Disturbed by the trend, General Motors Chairman James Roche commented recently:

"Many have suggested that higher absenteeism is a byproduct of the affluence of the '60s. If so, I suggest that it is time the fundamentals of our affluence be recognized for what they are.

"Our ability to improve our standard of living depends directly on our willingness to work to create the goods and services we enjoy."

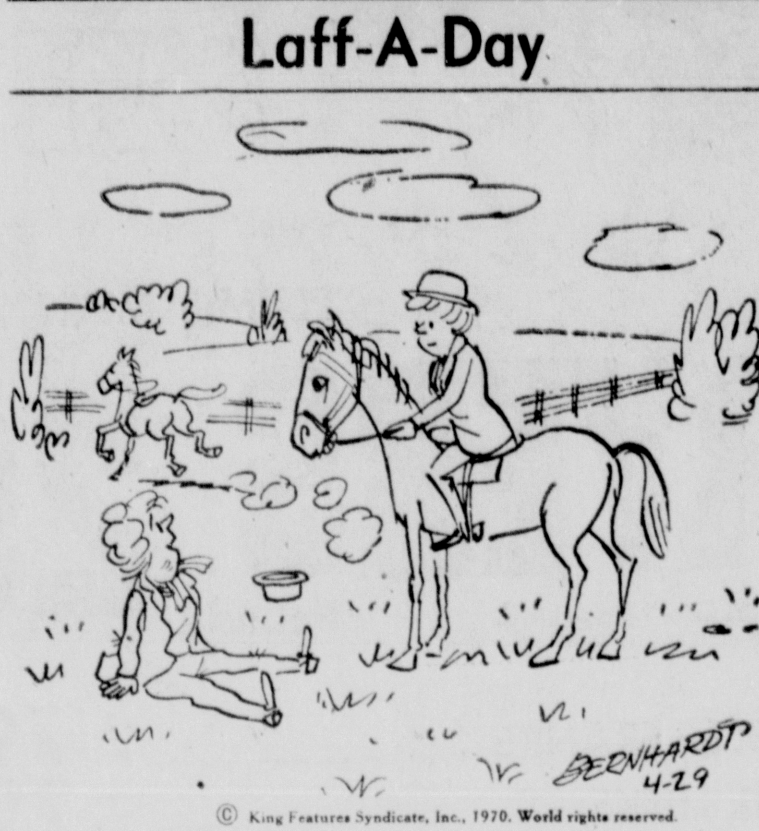

So long as production increases, wages can be raised without any inflation resulting. But productivity hasn't kept pace with wage and price increases. The result: inflation.

The remedies for this laxness by both management and labor are going to be difficult. First off, one remedy entails jobs; unemployment is rising steadily after being near an all-time low late in the 1960s.

As unemployment continues to rise—a direct result of government attempts to wring inflation out of the economy—management is going to be in a better position to crack the whip. "Illness" will be a less acceptable excuse.

Attempts will be made also to root out inefficiency at the management level. White collar laxness, although better disguised, has a more pervasive effect on prices than that of skilled labor; one manager's actions might affect 1,000 blue collar workers.

The goal of these attempts is more efficiency, more productivity per manhour.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

May 5, is just around the corner. Have you weighed the data and made your decision? You have a choice of voting "yes" and keeping the schools open or you can vote "no" and they'll close.

I have received several answers to the questions I had asked previously in 4 letters to the editor and I will share them with you now.

I asked the question: "Is there anything being done by the state to give the school districts more money? In a letter I received from Republican Myrl Shoemaker and I quote: "It is most difficult for the legislature to bring about a change in taxation without the cooperation of the Governor. Governor Rhodes said as long as he was in office there would be no state income tax."

I feel unless the people unite and organize, sign petitions, write letters to their representatives and put pressure on the legislative body, nothing will ever be done to change the laws, because of politics involved. So it's up to the people. Are you interested in getting the laws changed or not in order to have higher education and better schools for the children?

At the last open board meeting at Westfall, the statement was made and confirmed that it had cost $1200 for the special election last December. May 5 it will cost approximately $800. This money comes out of the operating fund which comes from property taxes, state and federal funds allotted to each district. If you want to save yourself money and you want to keep the schools open you might as well vote "yes" now as later. If this levy fails in May you will see it again in November and at special elections until you do pass it because the schools at present have no other means of financing the schools. The schools will close is the statement I have received from four very reliable sources. There's the cold hard facts.

Folks, the problems in this world are increasing very rapidly and unless the people take notice, get involved and work towards a solution the problems will intensify even more although people are trying to put a check on them.

Several suggestions were proposed to create money for schools. I have obtained several ideas about the suggestions. First a state income tax is felt needed by Republican Shoemaker. The state of Hawaii has a state income tax. Other sources greatly oppose this taxation because the big cities already have their own income tax. A grocery tax would hit everybody but people wouldn't vote "yes" because it would hit the poor too hard. An increase on license plates can only be earmarked for the repair and maintenance of roads. The sales tax is not earmarked for education only. I have no other information at present concerning the sales tax. No taxation on soda pop would ever come about because the lobbyist from the pop companies would be there to stop it.

The rumors about having one county school is just talk. One board member said nothing of having a county school has ever been presented.

Recently I wrote several letters to different people concerning the means of taxation. I wrote a letter to each of the following: Gov. Rhodes, Earl Chapman, WTVN

Editorials, and Congressman Chalmers Wylie. The answer has to be somewhere because God said, "Seek and ye shall find."

One other item which perhaps should be mentioned is this. Several people have expressed themselves saying that teachers are too well paid now, why should we tax ourselves more to give them more money? Pretend you are a teacher with just enough hours (86 quarter hours) to teach an elementary class, you are married with a pre-schooler. You report to school at 8 o'clock and go home at 3:30. Have you ever really thought about babysitting with 25 children the same age, five days a week for nine months of the year with each child being unique in his own way? Also the teacher's day does not end at 3:30. Usually she has to attend a college class one night a week at least and grade her pupil's papers.

She also receives many questions over the phone from parents on her hours after school. She's expected to attend all the school functions, PTA, teacher's meetings and workshops, and Lord knows what else.

Without a four-year degree she will start with a salary approximately $1,000 less than a teacher having a degree. A degree requires 180 quarter hours of college work. Each quarter hour of school costs $17 per hour at Ohio University.

For example a college course in Educational Psychology gives five credit hours. This means a cost of $85 to get into the class, about $18 for books, the cost of driving a car 88 miles a week for 11 weeks, plus the cost of eight hours a week for a babysitter.

Some courses such as an art course, requires $102 for the course, being in class 10 hours a week for 11 weeks, spending $55 for supplies, driving 968 miles, plus a babysitter for six credit hours. Personally, I don't feel the teacher is overpaid at all. Would you consider being a teacher? Compare a teacher's salary to a person that doesn't have a degree working at Dupont or GE, also compare what we expect of each one. The above example should encourage you young people desiring to be a teacher to go to college and get that college degree before marriage, the pressure is less on the mind.

Whether you vote "yes" or "no" on the up coming levy is your decision. Each person has to weigh in his mind what is right and what is wrong. Either way the voting goes, some big problems will still remain. At present the question is: Do you want the schools to close or remain open? Vote "yes" to keep them open, vote "no" to close them.

Why No Action?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When the White House tempts on issues that seriously divide Republicans, it is understandable. Yet when President Nixon takes no action on a program that would be acceptable to both the conservative and liberal wings of the Republican Party, it is another story.

In the whole area of what Peter Drucker has called "reprivatization" there is, actually, very little quarrel between the conservatives and the liberals. Take, for example, the subject of promoting competition between public and private schools. The so-called "voucher system," which would allow individuals to receive tuition vouchers from the state and use them to help pay the cost of a child's education in any school, whether public, private or parochial, commends itself to Republicans all across the spectrum. On the right, the American Conservative Union, Young Americans for Freedom and the writers who contribute to the Washington publication, "Human Events," have all advocated the idea of government subsidization of schooling rather than schools. Professor Milton Friedman, one of Nixon's economic advisers, was, if I am not mistaken, the first person in this country to suggest the use of educational vouchers. Before that the idea had a run in England, where people have become disillusioned about the cost and the quality of state education. Surprisingly, the Ripon Society, an organ of the Republican left, has also supported a voucher system. Indeed, there has been some talk of getting up a right-left manifesto favoring the voucher idea and presenting it to Nixon as a "total" Republican demand.

According to the White House grapevine, Roger Freeman, the economist who is one of Nixon's special assistants, has been working up a paper that would let the individual take his share of the education tax money for use in the school of his choice. But Pat Moynihan, according to the same grapevine, has been sitting on the Freeman proposal. So nothing stirs.

Recourse to the voucher idea would automatically end the fear of state domination of education. It would take the sting out of the issue of giving state support to religious schools. With every parent free to select an institution of his own choice, nobody could complain of forced indoctrination. The competition would be in the field of excellence; the private school would have to come up with good teachers and good subject matter in order to compete with the public school system. The educators would have to be on their toes; nobody would be able to take refuge in bureaucratic domination of the educational scene.

There has been concern that the voucher idea would encourage the expansion of schools designed to perpetuate segregation. However, the state would still have the duty of licensing schools to operate. Certain standards would have to be met by the individual school in order to qualify for the right to cash the vouchers for money. A voucher system would enable a black parent to take advantage of private education in many places where the possibility of now doing so is precluded for economic reasons.

The voucher idea does not satisfy those who are ideologically committed against state-supported education of any type. However, the ideologues have long since lost the battle against the idea of the public school. The best possible compromise in this day and age is to establish some sort of open competition between the public and the private idea. With vouchers, the state would not be limited to subsidizing schools; it would, so to speak, be subsidizing pupils.

Dr. John Howard, the president of Rockford College in Illinois, has suggested that Federal aid to higher private education should take the form of tax rebates to those who give money to the college of their choice. This is an extension of voucher idea thinking. Since the Republican Party is committed to adventures in "reprivatization," there is no good reason why the months go by without Administration action in this sphere. Let's hear something on the subject from the White House before Nixon's second term is upon us.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments by a pavement Plato:

However this chaotic age is remembered in the future, it won't be recalled as a period of great letter writing.

It has neither the leisureed grace nor mellow philosophy—or even the passionate desire to communicate one's thoughts—that stimulates the creation of great letters.

Folks today aren't so much interested in telling each other what they think as they are what they heard on a television talk show the night before.

Ah, for the shades of the great letter writers of yesterday—Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, Dean Swift, Lord Chesterfield, John Keats, Lord Byron, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, to name but a few.

Unable to pick up a telephone and exchange their opinions and ideas offhand, they sat down, took a sharpened quill in hand, dipped it in an inkwell and by labor of mind and gift of wit turned out long letters that are part of the endless glory of the English tongue.

Their letters took time to write and a much longer time to reach their recipient — days, weeks, even months—but they said something not only to him but to all mankind.

It is getting harder every year for anyone to achieve lasting fame as a letter writer even though he sets out deliberately to do so. There are other factors to blame besides the more practical efficiency of the telephone, the telegraph and the office dictating machines—plus the time-wasting allure of television.

Who will take the trouble to write a clever letter to a giant corporation when he knows it will be read only by a tired white collar office underling and answered by a bored computer? Even George Bernard Shaw couldn't win a literary duel with a pompous computer.

Here's another problem: Suppose poet John Doakes, disturbed by the predicaments and paroxysms of civilization, indites a masterful letter to his friend, poet James Doe.

"Rosebud," says Doe, turning to his wife. "This letter from Doakes is too good to be lost. It is our duty to save it for posterity."

"Oh, no, we don't," replies Rosebud. "There isn't room in this apartment for anymore junk. We don't even have space to save our income tax returns."

And into the wastebasket goes Doakes' masterpiece.

Yes, the tradition of great letter writing appears headed for the same oblivion of the goose quill and lamplight that spawned it.

1971-72 TV Season

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's not too early to make a prediction about television in 1971-72: it will be the season of the stars.

Never before in television history will so many important film stars be appearing in their own series. These projects already have been announced:

Henry Fonda will star for ABC in a generation-gap series called "The Smith Family," produced by Don Feddersen, creator of "My Three Sons," "Family Affair" and "To Rome with Love."

Shirley MacLaine will have her own ABC series, to be produced in England by Sheldon Leonard, late of "I Spy" and "My World and Welcome to it."

Tony Curtis will co-star with Roger Moore in an ABC adventure series, also to be made in England. Like the MacLaine series, this one is backed by British producer Lew Grade, who plans to release it simultaneously on English and American television.

Glenn Ford has signed for a comedy half-hour about a police detective who takes over a youth center. CBS has ordered the series from 20th Century Fox.

Dick Van Dyke will return to CBS in a new series which will be filmed near his home in Phoenix, Ariz.

James Garner, who first achieved fame as "Maverick" on ABC, is going back to television in an adventure series for NBC.

Other top stars are being offered to the networks for future series. Why? The reason is clearly written in the tortured economics of the movie business.

Except for a handful of hot personalities—notably Paul Newman, Steve McQueen, Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford and Elliot Gould—stars are simply not in demand for today's film market. Those who could earn $500,000 per picture last year aren't receiving scripts today. The emphasis is on low-budget, youth-appeal movies, and those can be made with unknowns.

So it's only natural for the likes of Fonda, Curtis, MacLaine and Garner to go for the immense money that a television series can provide.

It's a big step. To most of them it means at least a gap in a career as a movie attraction. Rarely has the star of a television series been able to maintain a successful film career. Dean Martin has managed, but he appears on television in a variety show, not a dramatic series.

Television is a gamble. True, film stars can earn $500,000 or more in the first year. But their series can also bomb out in one season, causing serious career damage. Examples can be found this season with "The Debbie Reynolds Show" and "The Survivors," with Lana Turner and George Hamilton.

Women Demand Equal Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women demanding an even shake with men at all levels of higher education are asking the federal government to close its multibillion-dollar contract purse to colleges and universities practicing sex discrimination.

A leader of a national women's equal education rights group, Bernice Sandler of Silver Spring, Md., has filed charges under terms of presidential executive orders forbidding government contractors to discriminate by sex.

"The orders never had been used this way in the past," Mrs. Sandler said in an interview. "but we were watching what the blacks were doing and we came across a footnote that the orders had been extended to include sex."

"We're getting the colleges and universities to look at sex discrimination by endangering their pocketbook," she added.

"Throughout the university community," she said, "there is discrimination in hiring, promotion, getting tenure, and the like, and women make substantially less in salary than their male counterparts."

"The discrimination extends to all levels—faculty, staff and student body," she added. "It has been going on for years and women have been complaining bitterly among themselves."

Mrs. Sandler, 42, married and the mother of two teen-aged girls, is a lecturer at the University of Maryland and chairman of the Committee for Federal Contract Compliance in Education, part of the Women's Equity Action League.

On behalf of the league, she has been following up with specific complaints to the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare Departments against individual institutions which charges are discriminating against women in various educational practices.

Thus far, Mrs. Sandler said,

"we're up to 43 individual college and university filings and we're hopeful the university community will start to take a hard look at itself."

The women are acting under the executive orders because ladies in academic life are not protected from sex discrimination under civil rights or fair labor standards laws, noted Rep.

Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich.

HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch has assured Rep. Griffiths that employment practices of universities and colleges are being reviewed by the appropriate federal agencies which he said would carry out their responsibilities.

Riddle, Dennis Win Offices

By TERRY ROGERS

Richard Riddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riddle of Route 2, Orient, is the newly elected president of the Westfall Student Council. He was a member of this year's football team and is active in many other school activities such as Varsity W, FFA, Drama Club, Student Council, and track. He is also a member of the year book staff. In county activities, he is a member of 4-H and a Junior Leader.

RICHARD RIDDLE

Richard really has a great energetic outlook for the coming year. He is also very enthused about the way the student body conducts itself. Richard has the hope that he can incorporate a novel spirited outlook toward the Student Council.

VICKI DENNIS

Among Richard's likes are people, football, drag racing, and the new vice president of

Girls Clean Area For Earth Day

The Westfall girls' physical education classes did their share of contributing to "Earth Day" on April 22. Each class had a designated area of the school lot in which to exert their effort in beautifying Westfall.

Although picking up trash may not sound truly exciting, many interesting things can happen. It was discovered that the ditch in front of the school has a nice supply of night crawlers and that they even "taste good" as reported by one brave soul! "Everyone to their own taste" Although by the end of the period, some girls were more preoccupied in searching for four leaf clovers, the majority of the girls did a fine job, and Westfall can make a "clean start" into the final six-weeks which began April 20.

The new vice president of the Westfall Student Council is Vicki Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennis of Route 3, Mt. Sterling. She is a member of GAA, FTA, and the year book staff. She is also a varsity cheerleader. In countywide activities, she is a member of 4-H and Junior Leaders. She participates in girls' volleyball and basketball and will represent the Williamsport Legion at Girls State this summer.

Vicki likes the way the students and teachers at Westfall treat her, and she feels that they have really been a help to her during the year. She believes that the most important thing the student council can do next year is to accomplish a better relation between the students and the faculty. She feels that this can be established only if there is a mutual respect between both groups. She also feels that if the students take on more responsibilities, it will help in this cause.

Vicki likes cheerleading, sports, laughing, music, weekends, people, baseball pitchers, and summer.

The student body would like to wish both these students support and luck for the coming year.

Student Council Campaigns Are Imaginative

By TEDDY ROGERS

Once again a campaign week for the Student Council President of Westfall High School has started. Hard work has completed what will long be remembered as the toughest campaign ever fought in W.H.S. history.

Richard Riddle, with the aid of his campaign manager, Greg Bigam, came out light the first day. But the dawn of the second day proved the fact that he was in to stay. His slogans ranged from "All the way with Riddle" to "Get on the right track and vote for RR."

Vicki Dennis, with her campaign manager, Cindy McKay, fought a hard battle from the very beginning with everything from "Vote for Vicki" on lunch napkins to a large assortment of badges.

Larry Kempton, with Mike Allen as his campaign manager, came out strong the second day and proved to be a tough competitor in this frantic race for the head seat. He had humorous signs such as an astronaut with the saying "The sky's the limit" and signs of all shapes, sizes, and phases.

Jerrold Fields, with the aid of Beaky Beauman and Mark Johnson, came out strong from the very beginning to the end. His novelty idea of stick-on signs soon swept the school as the greatest idea since the light bulb. His signs numbered the homerooms with sayings such as "In your heart you know he's right."

Terry Rogers, with campaign manager Sally Minor, came out strongest with his "Terry Power" daisies. He had a large assortment of badges along with signs and also pennants stuck in sandwiches at lunch. His most impressive stunt, however, was the "Vote for Terry" balloons which poured from the balcony as he gave his campaign speech.

The last candidate to be mentioned is Teddy Rogers. With the assistance of Tim McCoy, a campaign developed of intense size. His wide assortment of signs varied from "Keep the S.C. way ahead: Give your vote to good old Ted," to a sign "If it's to be said, it's by Ted," which was placed on a hallway ceiling. He also stuck pennants in sandwiches and stamped "Vote for Ted" on napkins.

Now it's all over, and the clean-up is started. One

Schein Given FHA Crown

By SALLY ANN MINOR

At the annual FHA banquet April 16 Chris Schein was crowned the 1970 FHA King by Denise Rhinesmith. Serving as his court were Lew Trapp and Roger Peart.

To qualify for FHA King, candidates had to be a senior and in FFA, and each had to fill out an application stating such things as what he did around the house and what he would do for the FHA if he was elected King.

Chris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schein of Route 2, Circleville, is enrolled in the college prep and vocational curriculum. He is active in such organizations as Varsity W, Junior Fair Board, Junior Leaders, Sr. Deercreek Livestock, and the Westfall track team. He was also one of the tri-captains for this year's football team.

Chris, who has a cheerful personality, enjoys such things as football, track, girls, and messing around. He dislikes snobs and long school days.

When asked his feelings on being FHA King, he replied, "Oh, no!"

Plumbers OK Wage Package

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A new contract calling for a total increase of $3 in wages and fringe benefits over three years has been ratified by members of Local 87, Plumbers and Steam Fitters Union.

The raises, in four steps, will increase the plumbers' package from the current $7.36 an hour to $10.36 by May 1, 1972.

The settlement could set a pattern for five other building trades crafts whose contracts expire at midnight Thursday. They are the teamsters, painters, glaziers, electricians and ironworkers.

Some of the trades are seeking increases of $5 an hour.

Tipsy Wasps Are The Most Dangerous

LONDON (AP) — Tipsy wasps have been on an orgy of child stinging in Britain, a beekeeper revealed.

"Wasps," said beekeeper Nicholas Simmons, "get drunk" and drowsy by crawling into fallen fruit to feed on.

"It is when they are tipsy that they are at their most menacing," he said. "They are attracted by flashes of light reflected in the eye and will go for a child's face in a second."

One hospital, dealing with scores of wasp stings each week, termed 1969, "the year of the big sting."

Judge Raps Police Raids

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Tom Moody indicated Tuesday he will issue a restraining order if police continue to harass bookstore owners with repeated raids.

While turning down a request by the booksellers to restrain police from raiding stores accused of selling obscene magazines, Moody made it clear he would take such action later if police persist in arrest tactics.

"There can be no merit to the view that these persistent bookstore raids are really necessary to protect the public from evil," he said.

"What the police have been unable to do by convictions in court they seek to do by the strong arms of the arrest process."

While courts hesitate to enjoin police from enforcing the law, Moody said, they have done so "where necessary to preserve rights and guard against unconscionable and irreparable harm."

5 Critical School Levies Face Some Ohioans May 5

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five critical school levies will face voters in special elections May 5 and the outcome of each may well determine how long the affected schools can remain open. They are among several hundred school money issues to be on ballots around the state.

Randy Congrove, The Clarinet Quartet is composed of Randy Congrove, Lisa Ransdell, Linda DeLong, and Debbie Steele.

SIXTH GRADE TRIP PLANNED

The Zane Trace Middle School Sixth Grade will attend the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus on May 20.

Passage would mean an increase in revenues of $2.9 million. This election will be the third since last November on the same issue. If it fails, school officials say the 26 elementary schools, two junior high and four senior high schools will have to delay the fall opening until after November 26. The delayed openings would affect 21,000 students.

In another highly publicized school levy contest, voters in Fremont will be asked to reconsider both a renewal levy of 4.6 mills and an additional levy of 2.9 mills. Spokesmen said failure of the issue to get past the voters in May will necessitate putting the issue back on the ballot in November. They maintained that some additional funds would be required by the end of the school term if the system is to remain in operation. Fremont and its school system were the subjects of a recent television special program highlighting the financial problems educational systems face across the country. Fremont's residents earlier this year made advance payments on local taxes to rescue the school system from closing because of insufficient funds. In other significant issues involving education funding, three school districts in Ohio will be facing levies for the fifth time. Harrison Local School District in Harrison County has an additional levy of 8.5 mills before it's voters. Evergreen in Fulton County is asking area residents to reconsider an additional 5.2

mills and lakewood in Licking County seeks approval of an additional 8.9 mills. Each of the three school systems is expected to close if the levies do not survive the May 5 voting. Additionally, 11 other school districts are threatened by financial crisis unless millage renewals and increases, rejected three times already by local voters, are passed.

Many Puerto Ricans See U.S. Statehood As Inevitable

By GREGORY NOKES

Haas Named
Plant Manager
By General

ELDRIDGE HAAS
PORTSMOUTH — The promotion and transfer of Eldridge H. Haas to general plant manager (construction and maintenance) at the state headquarters of General Telephone Co. of Ohio in Marion was announced today by President Robert M. Wopat. Haas has been plant superintendent for the Portsmouth district since May, 1969. He succeeds Duane B. Brown, who has been promoted to a position with General Telephone & Electronics Corp. New York. In his new position, Haas will be responsible for coordinating construction and maintenance projects throughout the 262 central offices of General and its sister company, the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. The two companies, subsidiaries of GT & E, serve 528,000 telephones in 79 Ohio counties. A native of Cincinnati, Haas joined General as a lineman at Georgetown in 1958, following his graduation from the University of Cincinnati. In October, 1959, he moved to Marion and after completing the company's management training program, was named a junior engineer. He was promoted to staff assistant, special services, in August, 1958. Haas was named district plant superintendent for the company's Circleville district in October, 1967. It was in May, 1969, that Haas was raised to his present post at Portsmouth. Married, he and his wife, Margie, have three children. The family will be moving to Marion in the near future.

The Seniors of Westfall High School are sponsoring a Fish Fry Supper at the school on Friday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. to help finance their trip to Washington D. C. Tickets are available from any class member or may be purchased at the door.

On Election Day Tuesday, May 5 please remember that the proposed 4-mill operational levy for the Westfall school district is badly needed to help maintain the present standard of education. According to Superintendent Judson Lanman the new levy, the first request for an increase in funds since 1959, is for the operation of schools, not a bond issue for construction.

crowded with New York's tourists, appears set on a course aimed at putting its star on Old Glory as the 51st U.S. state. The event may be 10 or more years off, or may never occur at all, but there's a "statehood" governor in the 450-year-old La Fortaleza mansion and many people regard it as a foregone conclusion. Some of those who favor statehood also fear it. "It's like the approach of death," says the wife of a San Juan architect. "You always know you will die some day, and we always knew we would eventually become a state. But the closer it gets, the more you dread it." Many Puerto Ricans fear complete Americanization of the island under statehood. They think all or most of what they hold dear from the Spanish heritage will be lost, especially the language. Gov. Luis A. Ferre, a leading advocate of statehood, insists this does not have to happen. One of those who opposes statehood, and favors independence, said in a recent speech that Puerto Rico's population growth is one of the last lines of resistance against the United States. "Never should the density of our population be weakened, that wall which resists the destruction of our personality and our race," said Eladio Rodriguez Otero, president of the Ateneo Puertorriqueno, a cultural organization. A current birth control program, he said, is primarily financed by federal funds and is "an anti-Puerto Rican plan." He asked, "What right is there to impede the increase of our population when there is no check on the entry, which is every day greater, of the thousands of people who arrive from the outside to our land to take up residence here?" The trend in Puerto Rico today, however, is toward stronger ties with the mainland. President Nixon and Gov. Ferre have a joint committee to study whether to let Puerto Ricans vote for president. There are one million registered voters in a population of about three million. In 1973, Puerto Rico will pass through its 75th year of domination by the United States. The island was one of the spoils of the Spanish-American War. Few visiting Americans understand it. The island has operated under a commonwealth form of government since the 1940s, and only in recent years has there been major interest in statehood. The debate over statehood, commonwealth and independence, the three status alternatives, is the major topic in Puerto Rico today, and every decision and every act by the government, no matter how trivial in appearance, is judged in that context. Given U.S. citizenship and drafted into the U.S. armed forces, the Puerto Rican nevertheless lacks voting representation in Congress. He thinks of himself as something different from his fellow citizens to the north. He calls English-speaking mainlanders Americans or Americanos, while he refers to himself, with pride, as a Puerto Rican or Puertorriqueno. More than 200 islanders have been killed in the Vietnam war. Never independent since conquest by Spain's Ponce de Leon in the early 1500s, Puerto Rico is a product of the Spanish culture and a captive of the U.S. life-style. The estimated 50,000 mainlanders living in Puerto Rico refer to themselves as "continentals." Most occupy well-paying jobs in industry, finance, the media and government, and most get along fine without knowing any Spanish. They send their children to private English-speaking schools, read an English newspaper, watch the English-language television or listen to one of the several English-language radio stations. They attend English-language churches and can even hear Ferre deliver an English-language speech when he is addressing a group of them. Several hundred thousand English-speaking tourists, mostly from the New York area, visit the island each year. There is a large and growing bilingual Puerto Rican middle class. These people live in characterless suburbs which stretch through once fertile valleys south of San Juan. With 400,000 vehicles already crowding island roads, officials are considering a subway system.

2 More Ohioans Killed In Vietnam
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more soldiers from Ohio, Pfc. Gerald W. Hay of Mason, Warren County, and Spec. 6 James T. Conway of Uhrichsville, Tuscarawas County, have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Tuesday. Hay was the son of Grace N. Hay, 1055 Olympia Drive, and Conway was the husband of Didda L. Conway, 515 W. Fourth St.

Homemaker's Hint from... Betty Brown Big Bear's Own Home Economist

We at Big Bear, believe you should understand about Grades of canned products, so you can be a value wise shopper. Our Food Club label and most national labels are Grade A. Our Gaylord label is Grade B and our Elna label Grade B or C. All grades of canned products have the same nutritional value and all have the same drained weight. The main difference is in appearance and color. Consider using B or C Grade labels when appearance is not of prime importance — in sauces, soups, casseroles, pies, diced salads, cobbles, etc. Price is generally a good indication of Grade; the smart shopper will learn to use the various Grades wisely.

Dear Abby: Is Her Hubby Only 'Playing It Safe'

DEAR ABBY: After my eighth baby was born, I asked my doctor to tie my tubes so I wouldn't have any more children. It's nothing new. Lots of women have it done.

Well, that was two years ago, and yesterday my husband came home and announced that he had gone down to the doctor's office and had his tubes tied! It sure sounds to me like there's another woman in his life.

Maybe I'm just dumb, but I can't understand why he had to have that done when there was no danger of getting ME pregnant.

Do you think he's off his rocker, or just plain don't like kids. Please don't use my name. Four of my kids can read.

DEAR OVER: No matter what your husband's faults may be, "gambling" isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FLAT AS A PANCAKE": Don't be disappointed in your measurements. I am stationed on Okinawa now, and the average chest size for a fully-developed woman here is 27 inches. So, cheer up! Age will help.

Respectfully,
A "GI" IN THE PACIFIC
DEAR "GI": Thanks for the comforting words for "FLAT" and all her flat sisters. It's good to know that our men in the Pacific are so compassionate, informed—and observing.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14 years old and I have a problem. All my friends call me "conceited." I'm not really, but they think I am because I can't pass a mirror without looking at myself.

So what can I do about myself, Abby? Do you think I'm conceited or not?

NOT CONCEITED
DEAR NOT: Looking at one's self in the mirror does not necessarily indicate that you ADMIRE yourself. Perhaps you lack self-confidence and are seeking constant reassurance. Try to pass a mirror without looking into it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "CAN'T SLEEP" whose conscience is bothering her over her neglect of an elderly mother, recently deceased.

Go to the nearest Old Folks home and take on a "mother" or even a "mother and father." Do for them what you wish you'd have done for your own. Think how much pleasure a ride on a sunny day, a small gift or even a bouquet of flowers would mean to the elderly "foster-by-family" people who are in these homes. If you can't take them out, you can go and talk with them, and listen to them reminisce. You will gain a lot. I know, I've tried it and

Ohio Tomato Growers Fight Hunt-Wesson Over Prices

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Claiming that Hunt-Wesson Foods Co. discriminates against Ohio growers, about 100 farmers in this area have decided not to plant tomatoes this year unless offered more money.

They say the company is paying higher prices for tomatoes grown on the East Coast.

The protesting growers are members of the Ohio Agricultural Marketing Association, which claims to represent 70 per cent of Hunt's Ohio production.

Douglas Burkhard, marketing specialist for the OAMA, said Tuesday Hunt has offered $40 a ton to New Jersey growers but has refused to meet an Ohio grower demand of $37.25. He said Hunt has offered $35.25.

Meanwhile, the company, he said, has threatened to shift a major part of its production to California rather than meet the demands of the northwestern Ohio growers.

Pickets were posted last week outside Hunt's plants at Toledo and Perrysburg.

Burkhard said the company has threatened to close one plant and operate the other at 60 per cent of capacity.

"Hunt officials have stated that the over-all cost of this alternative may be several times

it works. It's fun! (Sign me)

Five Points News

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

The Westfall Seniors to Washington D. C. are making their final pick-up of newspapers and magazines on this Saturday. Why don't we start our spring cleaning by gathering these and calling Leslie Zimmerman at 869-3057?

Also, the same group of seniors are sponsoring a fish fry supper on May 1, at Westfall High School, from 5-7:30 p.m. Hope to see you there.

Mrs. Harry J. Smith, Mrs. Clara Woods, Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mrs. Joe Sheets, Mrs. E. L. Sheets, Mrs. Francis Furniss, Mrs. Bruce Cochran, Mrs. Charles A. Fleming and Mrs. Lewis Seymour, members of Monrovia Garden Club attended the Spring Regional Meeting Tuesday at Lincoln Lodge, Columbus. Mrs. Harry J. Smith, Regional Director Region 9 conducted the business session and heard the various reports. Mr. David Henderson of Columbus was the guest speaker at the morning session and gave a very interesting talk and illustration on birds and the art of painting them. Mr. Tim Schuler of Arlington Flowers, Columbus was the afternoon speaker and he talked on the art of arranging flowers and made several lovely arrangements. Each member present received a small evergreen tree to plant.

Mrs. Mae DeLay of Derby was the Thursday overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones.

Family Y Offers Adult Education

Poll Shows Glenn, Metzenbaum Nearly Even

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Howard M. Metzenbaum, a virtual unknown statewide earlier this year, has caught up with former astronaut John H. Glenn in the race for the Democratic senatorial nomination, according to a Cleveland Plain Dealer poll.

The newspaper's survey of 800 Democrats in 41 counties showed 35.1 per cent favoring Glenn and 34.2 per cent for Metzenbaum. Dr. Kenneth Clement got 6.7 per cent and John W. McAlarney 2 per cent, with 23.7 per cent undecided.

The Plain Dealer said Metzenbaum has an edge among suburban voters while Glenn's support comes mainly from rural areas. The big city vote is divided fairly evenly between the two.

A similar poll by the newspaper of 800 Republicans across the state showed Rep. Robert Taft Jr. with a commanding 43.3 per cent to 36.6 per cent lead over Gov. James A. Rhodes for the GOP senatorial nomination. The remaining 20.1 per cent were undecided.

Taft and Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud received endorsements today from the Springfield Sun.

The endorsement for Taft was more anti-Rhodes than pro-Taft, with the editorial saying, "We shall be able to support with clear conscience either John Glenn or Howard Metzenbaum" in the general election if Rhoades should win the Republican nomination.

The newspaper said Cloud is "Ohio's most sedulous and hard-working officer of high administrative rank." It lauded Cloud for his work as Ohio House speaker and state auditor and said he "has it in him to make an even better governor."

Cloud also was endorsed Tuesday by the Canton Repository, along with Democratic gubernatorial candidate John J. Gilligan.

With just a week remaining before the primary election, most of the candidates stepped up their campaign activities.

Metzenbaum completed a five-city swing through the state Tuesday by declaring in Cincinnati that he is against sending American arms or personnel to Cambodia.

He said he was keying the day's campaigning to Ohio women, who "are worried about Vietnam, Cambodia, living without their husbands and sons and brothers."

Glenn's headquarters announced that 2,000 campaign workers will take to the streets in cities across the state Saturday in an effort to drum up more support for him.

A campaign spokesman said that in the absence of money to conduct a high-saturation advertising campaign, workers will distribute literature on street corners, at shopping centers and plant gates and door-to-door in some places.

Taft spoke out on the crime and drug problems during a stop at Dayton Tuesday. He said organized crime has grown into a $50 billion-a-year industry and now has seized on drugs as a moneymaker.

Taft noted that illegal drug traffic was an international problem and called for agreements to shut off the supply of drugs to organized crime.

Rhodes was in Cincinnati to day to tour the new riverfront sports stadium under construction. He claims to have played an instrumental part in getting the stadium project rolling.

The governor campaigned in eastern and northern Ohio Tuesday, winding up the day with a rally in Cleveland.

Cloud continued to hop around the state via helicopter Tuesday, making 12 stops in northern counties.

He said at one point he believes tax reform, environmental pollution and crime are the biggest problems facing the state. "How we decide to support our schools is the most important question," he said.

Gilligan said in Cleveland today the state administration has dealt in "sloganeering and wild promises" but "has not delivered" for the people.

"Ohio's people don't want any more pie-in-the-sky promises," he said, "but they do want honest solutions to the very real human problems we face."

Republican Donald "Buz" Lukens promised Tuesday that if elected governor he will seek development of an integrated transportation system using all modes of transportation in cooperation with local communities.

"Highway, transit, railroads, air travel and water transportation can no longer be treated as independent elements in a long-range program," he said.

Dennis E. Thompson, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, said in Toledo Tuesday night that if elected he would use his influence to stop increases in student fees and tuition.

He said state universities are owned by taxpayers, "not a handful of professional educators and board members that constantly increase tuition at a drop-of-a-hat."

Baker, a graduate of Salt Creek Twp. High School, was one of five persons aboard a Pilgrim's Airline plane that crashed into Long Island Sound Feb. 10. The flight was returning to Groton from a flight to Kennedy International Airport in New York.

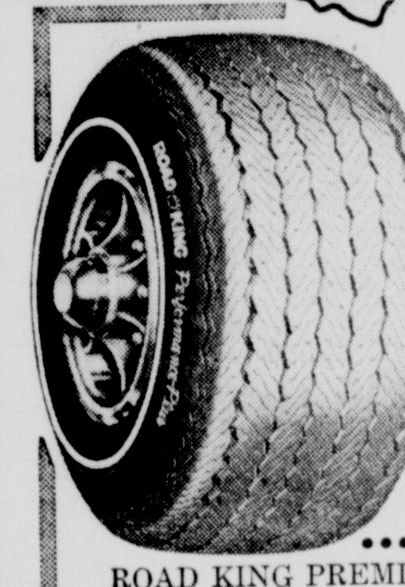

The body was recovered by the Coast Guard after being spotted by two fishermen Monday.

High Flying Reds Defeat Astros, 4-2

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
His teammates have hot-hitting Tony Perez figured out which is more than you can say for the rest of the National League.

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Pete Rose, an expert on the subject who has won the NL batting title in each of the last two years. That's the straight-forward explanation. Bobby Tolan, another Cincinnati slugger, subscribes to a more mystical approach.

"He must be trying," said Tolan. "to get into the next higher league."

Whatever Perez has up his sleeve, he gave Houston more of the same Tuesday night, setting a major league record with his 10th home run this month as the Reds whipped the Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the NL Tuesday night, Pittsburgh slugged Chicago 6-1, Atlanta edged St. Louis 3-2, New York dropped San Francisco 5-2, Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal swept a doubleheader from San Diego 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez had broken the NL mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon a couple of days ago.

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by John Mayberry.

The Pirates ended Chicago's 11-game winning streak with two home runs by Manny Sanguillen and combined three-hit pitching by Luke Walker, Bruce Dal Canton and Dave Giusti.

Sanguillen tagged a two-run homer over the left field wall in the first inning and then reached the identical spot with the bases empty in the sixth.

Dal Canton rescued Walker from a fifth inning jam, then left the game with a pulled muscle and Giusti finished up. It was the Cubs' first loss since April 12.

Clete Boyer unloaded a two-run homer in the ninth, giving the Braves their victory over St. Louis. Mike Torrez had been riding a 2-1 lead produced by Richie Allen's fifth homer of the year for the Cards until Boyer struck.

Hank Aaron tagged his seventh of the season for the Braves in the first inning.

Dave Marshall, an ex-Giant, exploded a first inning grand slam homer and gave the Mets enough of a cushion to beat the Giants.

Marshall's shot keyed a five-run Met first and Gary Gentry went eight innings to earn his second victory of the year. He gave up six hits including the 602nd home run of Willie Mays' career. Tug McGraw finished up for New York, striking out two in the ninth.

Larry Hise's two-out homer in the ninth tied the game and then a pinch homer by Rick Joseph leading off the 10th gave Philadelphia its sixth straight victory and beat the Dodgers.

Billy Grabarkewitz had snapped a 1-1 tie with a leadoff homer in the eighth for LA before Hise tied it again in the Phils' last gasp. Reliever Dick Selma earned the victory and finished the game at third base when left-hander Joe Hoerner came on to retire left-handed batter Willie Davis with the trying run on second in the bottom of the 10th.

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener to beat San Diego. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos. Steve Huntz homered for the Padres.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

Braves Split With Adena

Logan Elm hosted Adena in a twin bill Tuesday and when it was over each had added a victory to the ledger.

Adena took the five inning first game, 10-2, and the Braves bounced back to win the second fray, 10-8.

In the first affair Adena had 10 runs, 10 hits and played errorless ball. The Braves had two runs, five hits and three errors. Logan Elm scored two in the first inning but from then on it was all Adena as they scored eight runs in the first two frames.

GARY Francis started on the mound for the Braves but came up with a sore arm and was relieved by Vertie Teets.

Teets finished the last three frames and whiffed five Adena hitters. Jones was the starter and winner for the Warriors.

Mike Holbrook and Bob Triplehorn had two singles apiece and Greg Fouch had a single to complete the Braves attack.

The second fray was a different story as the Logan Elm boys went to work on the Adena nine.

Vertie Teets played an ironman role for the Braves. After pitching the last three innings of the first game he was the starter and winner in the second fray.

HE struck out four but tired in the last two innings giving up five runs but managed to stay in and finish the contest.

The Braves scored one in the first, five in the second, two in the fourth and two in the fifth to win the contest.

Adena got one in the first, two in the second, three in the sixth and two in the seventh.

The Redmen were in trouble in the seventh but a fine play by Bob Triplehorn ended the threat and the game.

Logan Elm had 10 runs, nine hits and one error while Adena had eight runs, 13 hits and three errors.

Gary Francis was the big man at the plate for the Braves getting a triple, double and two singles.

STEVE Curtis added a three bagger, John Payne had two singles and Greg Fouch and K. C. Jones added one baggers to the Logan Elm cause.

The Adena defeat threw them into a tie with Paint Valley for the Scioto Valley Conference lead.

to part with its bonds regardless of interest rates.

The law permitting bond issues allows the state to sell the bonds "or other obligations" such as notes.

"Every penny of this ($1.044 billion) has been approved in a statewide vote," Collier said.

"You either sell the bonds or you issue notes and hold off for a good rate," he said. "Eventually you have to sell them. In the past year and one-half, there hasn't been any best time."

The 1953 bond issue for highways will be paid off Sept. 15, 1972. A one-cent gasoline tax was earmarked for retiring the bonds.

The eight bond issues were for periods ranging from 10 to 30 years, but can be paid off earlier if finances permit. Each is to be retired by earmarked funds.

The earmarked funds include a gasoline tax, two cigarette taxes, a general fund appropriation, a two-tenths real estate levy, highway user receipts and general revenue taxes.

A rundown on each of the bonds issued:

—$500 million major thoroughfare construction, approved in 1953 for 18 years. Amount of bonds issued, $500 million. Outstanding bonded debt $81.5 million. Interest paid, $104.7 million.

—$500 million highway improvements, approved in 1964 for 24 years. Amount issued, $479 million. Outstanding debt, $356.2 million. Interest paid, $8.3 million.

—$150 million capital improvements construction, approved in 1955 for 20 years. Amount of bonds issued, $150 million. Outstanding debt, $27.7 million. Interest paid, $21.3 million.

—$250 million capital improvements, approved in 1963 for 30 years. No bonds issued. Outstanding debt, $250 million. Interest paid to date on short-term notes, $29.8 million.

—$290 million for development, approved in 1965. Amount issued, $290 million. Outstanding debt, $265 million, including $50 million in notes. Interest paid $11.3 million.

—$90 million Korean War bonds, approved in 1956 for 15 years. Amount issued, $80 million. Outstanding debt, $15 million. Interest paid, $23 million.

Ohio Mayors To Seek End To Truck Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The truckers strike in Ohio began its 29th day today with 64 Greater Cleveland trucking firms attempting to get their rigs back on the road this morning and several Ohio mayors scheduled to meet this afternoon in Cleveland in an "attempt to resolve" the strike.

The trucking firms sent telegrams and telephoned drivers to return to work in an effort to get enough trucks on the road to force dissidents to end their strike. A similar measure failed two weeks ago, but a spokesman for Teamsters Local 407 in Cleveland said, "We've got to give it one more try."

Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes and Francis Coy, chairman of the Greater Cleveland Growth Association, made invitations by telegrams Tuesday to 18 other mayors, including John S. Ballard of Akron, William J. Ensign of Toledo, Dave Hall of Dayton and E. P. Ruehlmann of Cincinnati, to attend the meeting.

There was no indication on how many of the mayors would attend.

The meeting was called as violent incidents continued to be reported in the state in connection with the strike and businesses and industries felt a tighter pinch because of delivery problems.

Many small businessmen in Cleveland, where a Greater Cleveland Growth Association spokesman says 43,000 persons have been idled along with 6,000 striking Teamsters, said Tuesday that they were being ruined by the strike.

"We'll never get the business back," one small Cleveland businessman said almost in tears. Many of the businessmen criticized local, state and federal governments for not stepping in to settle the strike or provide adequate protection for truckers not on strike.

Several drivers in Cleveland reported Tuesday that they are being pulled out of cabs and threatened by strikers. Bullets struck two trucks in Kirtland, east of Cleveland in Lake County and another shot hit a truck on Interstate 77 near Bath in Summit County. None of the drivers was hit. In Middletown in Southwest Ohio, Armco Steel Corp. officials said they would take legal action to prevent interference with steel shipments from its plants. The company's announcement followed the fire-bombing of a company office in Middletown, causing an estimated $10,000 damage, but Armco and police said they did not think the incident was related to the truck strikes.

American Airlines in Cleveland was granted a court order Tuesday that barred Local 407 members from interfering with the airline's air freight terminal at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Gerbert R. Whiting issued the restraining order without a hearing after the airline's attorneys charged that Teamster pickets had threatened employees and boasted that they intend to strangle the economic life of the community. The judge set a hearing for Thursday.

Pope To Issue Liberalized Rules On Mixed Marriages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI will issue new papal regulations permitting Catholics to marry non-Catholics without the presence of a priest, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops has announced.

In a statement Tuesday, the conference said the Pope would list 17 norms on mixed marriages in a 2,400-word letter to be issued Thursday.

The conference added the Pope took the action "on his own initiative." According to the conference, the two major developments in the letter are: "Diocesan bishops may now permit mixed marriages involving Catholics to take place without the presence of a Catholic priest, provided there is some public form of marriage service. This dispensation from the required form of Catholic marriage may be granted only for serious reasons."

"In recent years such concessions had been made on an individual basis, but only by the Holy See. The new rule recognizes the local bishops' authority . . ."

"The 1966 instruction on mixed marriages, now in force, asked that the non-Catholic party to a mixed marriage 'be invited to promise sincerely and impede' the obligation of the Catholic to guard, preserve, profess his (her) own faith and to baptize and educate the offspring in that faith."

"The new regulation . . . eliminates any demand for a promise on the part of the non-Catholic. Instead it first affirms the Catholic party's responsibility: ' . . . the Catholic party shall declare that he is ready to remove dangers of falling away from the faith.'"

"He is also gravely bound to do all in his power to have all the children baptized and brought up in the Catholic Church . . . At an opportune time the non-Catholic party must be informed of these promises . . . so . . . he is cognizant of the promise and obligation on the part of the Catholic."

Mixed-faith marriages will continue to be discouraged by the Pope, the conference added, and he will state the marriages "do not, except in some cases, help in re-establishing unity among Christians."

Perry School Talks Open

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Perry School District officials open wage talks today with teacher representatives under court instructions to report progress of the negotiations by May 11.

Lake County Common Pleas Judge Robert L. Simmons was brought into the dispute after the teachers began boycotting classes last week, shutting down the schools for 1,900 pupils for five days.

The judge has set a May 28 date for a hearing on the school board's request for an injunction to prevent further walk-outs.

The teachers returned to their classes Tuesday after the judge asked the two sides to negotiate. The talks will be influenced by voter action next Tuesday on a 7-mill operating levy and a 3.35-mill renewal levy.

Protesters March On Courthouse At Marietta

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — About 200 Marietta College students marched to the Washington County courthouse early today, protesting the jailing of two students on LSD charges.

The demonstrators were met at the courthouse, where the county jail is located, by sheriff's deputies and police. After a brief discussion with authorities, the students disbanded.

Two students, Mark Hannuala a senior from Medford, Mass., and Mark Emann, a freshman from Trenton, N. J., were jailed last Thursday after a grand jury indicted them for possession of LSD.

The demonstrators specifically were protesting the bonds set for Hannuala and Emann—$40,000 and $20,000 respectively.
